Let's use the "Child Rearing Connection Map for Foreigners"!

Tsurumi International Lounge provides various consultations at the counter, and there are study support classes for children with foreign connections. We are also making various initiatives with the theme of child-raising to make regional community where both foreigners and Japanese can live together comfortably.

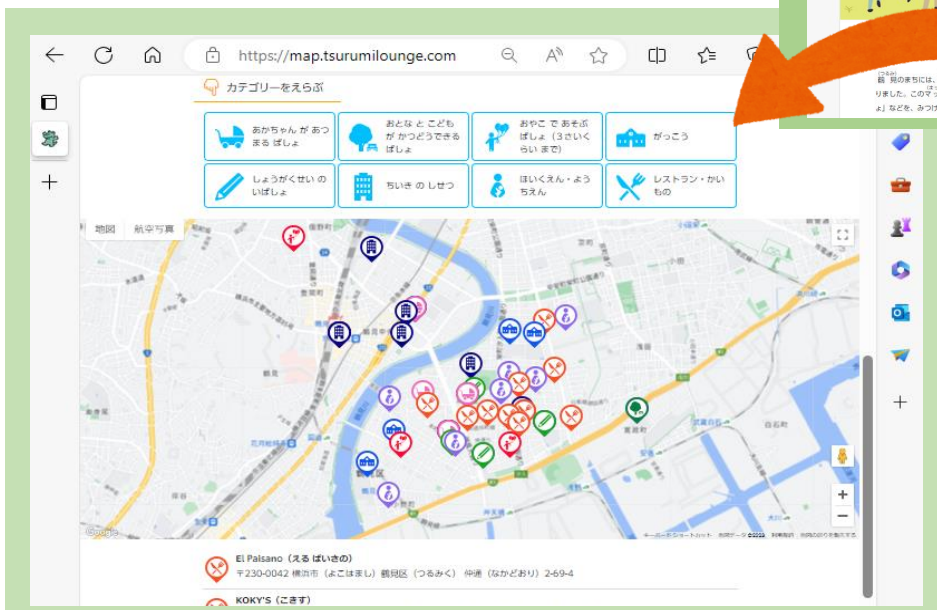

For example, we translate flyers for child-rearing events into multiple languages and participate in shopping district events in the ward to raise awareness of multicultural coexistence among many people. One of our efforts is the "Child-rearing Connection Map for Foreigners."

This map introduces places where foreigners and Japanese can get to know each other through child-rearing. These places include places where parents and children can play together or leave their children, schools, restaurants, etc.

Furthermore, we introduce the places in plain Japanese, Portuguese, and Spanish so that many people can look at them. Foreigners raising children, Japanese parents and children, and anybody else can look at the map first, then let's visit the places of interest with family and friends.
